Don't borrow! Not as long as you can get trusted. We trust a good many for a subscription to this paper. Maybe we would trust you. Why not subscribe and have a copy of the ADVERTISER every week.

THIS IS A TIME OF CHANGE.
We were much interested, the other morning, in a talk with L. B. Andrews about the continual changes in business life. Particular mention was made of the newer methods of packing, dry goods, clothing and shoes. A few years ago, they were wrapped in paper for shipment. At the retail store they were piled on shelves where the dust and everything else would injure them, or tumbled into drawers where they scratched each other and were jammed out of shape. Now the trade demands glass fronts for much shelving and many things are packed in paper boxes. The saving in the item of shopwearing more than makes up for the cost.

The amount of wood pulp now used in this country for making box stock has been stated to be greater than all the paper made in the land, twenty-five years ago. We do not know the correctness of that but judge that it is not far from the truth. And the boxes are called cartons—a word new to the English language.

NUMBER 33.

Chapman's Concert.

Tuesday evening, a good audience gathered in the Second Congregational church, Norway, to listen to a concert given by the Norway and South Paris branch of the Maine Music Festival Chorus, with the addition of the Bethel Chorus. Prof. William R. Chapman conducted. Beside himself and wife, the Bethel chorus people who came down and joined their voices with our people's on this occasion are:

B. C. Snyder, director, Archer Grover, Edgar Barker, Laura Hall, Clyde Barker, Mrs. Ira Jordan, F. P. Bean and wife, Edward Mason, J. C. Billings and wife, Alice Farrington, Minnie Capen, Ebel Richardson, Barbara Carter, Joan Stearns, Fannie Carter, Mrs. Sadie Tietel, George Farnsworth, C. E. Valentine and wife, Mrs. Ava Kelsey, Lillian Vance, Mrs. C. O. Foster, W. S. Wright and wife, R. W. Giladen, Bertha Wiley, R. W. G. Wiley.

Homer N. Chase and wife of Auburn came up to listen to the singing. Mr. Chase is the general manager of the whole festival. O. D. Stinchfield of the Lewiston, director of the Lewiston and Auburn chorus, was also present, carefully noticing the work of the chorus and Mr. Chapman's manner of handling them.

President Herman L. Horne of the local branch introduced Mr. Chapman to the audience. He talked for a few moments in his characteristic breezy style about the great festival and what it means to the people of Maine.

To say that the audience has delighted with the soprano solos by Mrs. Lou Duncan Barney of Rockland is putting it mildly. She has a high voice, smooth and melodious, and heard to advantage in difficult trills and runs. Her encore selection was Prof. Chapman's latest composition, given from the manuscript. Mrs. Chapman is a talented reader, and no mistake. Her easy manner and rare beauty add much to the effectiveness of her painstaking elocutionary work.

Mrs. Kimball, Miss Cook and Miss Beal are too well known here to require words of commendation. They sang in the delightful manner that we all know. The members of the chorus were in excellent voice and we accept without reservation Mr. Chapman's statement that he is proud of them.

NORTH SIDE VS. SOUTH SIDE.

The game of ball between merchants and clerks of the North and South side of Main street was largely attended, last Thursday afternoon on the Fair Grounds. The playing, some good and some bad, was bad, made much merit. We append the score minus some details which the scorer, Judge S. S. Stearns, said he was unable to give other than he thinks that the Northsiders and Southsiders made 12 errors each and the umpire 13.

VOLUME XXVII.

Norway Municipal Court.

James W. Clement of Norway plead guilty to the charge of intoxication and disturbing the peace in Main Street in Norway. Sentence suspended until Saturday next, as other parties connected with the affair are being looked after.

On Tuesday last, Lincoln H. Holmes of Albany was returned before the Municipal Court on a warrant charging him with selling a horse on which Clifford N. Eastman of Lovell held a mortgage without notifying the purchaser of that fact.

The defense claimed that the mortgage was bogus, being given in fraud of creditors, and further that he had been told by Eastman to dispose of the horse.

After hearing the testimony of the witnesses the Judge found reasonable doubt of the respondent's guilt and gave him the benefit of the doubt and discharged him.

M. L. Kimball, attorney for the state, and Judge S. S. Stearns for the respondent.

Now is a good time to commence to "get something ready to carry to the Fair."

H. L. and H. W. Hill made a short call on their friends, Sunday.
Mrs. H. B. Allen has returned to her work at Wm. Pierce's.

To-night at Opera House.
Edison's Projectoscope, Showing Living Moving Pictures upon the Canvas.

This has been the popular attraction of Boston and New York for months past which you have all read about. The same pictures as shown in Boston, some of the most popular of which will be shown to-night are the Black Diamond Express, running at sixty miles an hour, the Fire Rescue, Whirlpool Rapids, Turb Race, Morning Bath, Lone Fisherman, and many others of equal interest.

William Deering, wife and grandson of Chicago have been visiting his father, the venerable Judge James Deering, for some time.

Thursday, the Congregational Sunday school plans to hold its annual picnic. The spot is picturesque Snow's Falls.

Some more improvements have been made at Electra Park. The latest is seats outside for patrons while waiting for cars.

Ivy Richardson came down from Milton Plantation for a visit to her friends here. She stops with Mrs. H. Walter Dennison.

Clark Mitchell and Charles Marston have purchased house lots near G. K. Ripley's and will build themselves houses this season.

Golden Rule Lodge, I. O. G. T., will visit South Paris Lodge, Monday evening, Aug. 16th. All Good Templars in the vicinity are invited.

Sunday night when the excursion train from Portland pulled into this place, ten passenger coaches were filled with weary pleasure seekers.

Elise MacLean of St. John, N. B., came with Rev. and Mrs. R. J. Haughton on their return from that city. She will stop at her home awhile.

No preaching services at the Baptist church for the next two Sabbaths. Other services as usual. Rev. Mr. Ramsdell is taking his vacation at West Harpswell.

Frank H. Skillings, A. C. T. King, Henry Gary and Dr. Horatio Woodbury returned from Four Ponds greatly pleased with the trip. They had good luck when fishing.

S. P. Maxim & Son are fixing up their Jonathan Clark house on the Hebron road. A two story addition is up. The old one-story dwelling will be used as an L to the new structure.

ELM HILL.—A. C. Dudley is at Locke's Mills putting in a dam for Mr. Tibbotts. A. F. Hollis has gone with him.
Mrs. M. C. Weston and daughter, Anna Jordan of Chicago, are guests of Mrs. S. J. Whitehead.

We are informed of the birth of a daughter, Aug. 4, to Mr. and Mrs. Alva Gerry of Farmington, formerly of South Paris.
Chandler Swift has finished haying for H. L. Swift and gone to Woodstock with E. A. Dudley to help out the hay on Mr. Dudley's Woodstock farm.

Rev. C. S. Cummings of Augusta will preach at the Methodist church, next Sunday.
Sunday, the 22d, is the date set for dedication of the Catholic chapel on Alpine Street.

Wednesday afternoon, we noticed fires in several stores. The hot stoves drew a good attendance.
NEW SCHOOLHOUSES IN PARIS.

There was a slim attendance at town meeting in Paris, Saturday. Town clerk William J. Wheeler called to order and H. E. Hammond was chosen moderator.

The article about more school room in South Paris village provoked a lively discussion. In answer to a call for information the selectmen introduced Archibald I. Lawrence of Berlin, N. H. He is an architect and had looked over the brick schoolhouse. He estimated that a 40x50 addition could be built for about $2,500 and repairs enough more to make the total cost amount to $4,000 or so.

As for a new building, the selectmen again recommended the lot on Main street between the residences of Alonzo E. Shurtleff and Nelson G. Elder. It is 14x120 feet and the price is understood to be $950. Frank P. Burbank's plan for a two-story house with one room on each floor was submitted and accepted, and it was voted to build. Including lot and furnishings it is estimated to cost $2,500.

The article in regard to a new schoolhouse in the Forbes district provoked some debate. It was voted to build on a lot at the corner below the old location. This lot is 63x1/2 rods, and the plan submitted is estimated to cost $900 complete.

The sum of $9,000 was voted by temporary loan, to be assessed one-third at each of the next three yearly assessments. The selectmen were instructed to make all due haste, and the meeting adjourned.

Grinnell Stuart attended the reunion of the "Thirteenth Maine Volunteers," at Portland, Tuesday.

A considerable job of painting and papering has been done in the tenement above Lamb's store.

NORWAY OPERA HOUSE, Thursday, Aug. 10.
Middaugh's Musical Comedy Company appeared at the Opera House last evening, in a "World of Fun." There was a good sized audience and the performance was greatly enjoyed by all present.

The musical efforts of Joseph A. Kelley and John Burgess and the singing of Charles Smith were the most taking features of the entertainment. The selections by the orchestra were good and were appreciated. The dancing of the Elliott brothers was excellent and the comedy work of Kendall and Cummings created work of laughter. In fact no better entertainment for the money has been given in Barre in a long time.

Nearly every number was encores making it quite late when the performance let out.

The crossing from the corner of I. O. O. F. block to W. A. Porter's has been relaid. The smoothly dressed stones are a big improvement over the old rough granite, full of holes to hold the mud.

Frank L. Starbird has pebble lined the ditches on each side of mill hill. The street there has been rounded up in good shape. It is hoped that coming rains will not tear the earth out there so much as past storms have done.

The Paris Manufacturing Co. is erecting a storehouse 50x50 feet with three floors. This week that firm ships 1,500 Bobrick school desks and chairs to Washington, D. C. They contemplate lighting the plant by electricity.

Two of the Irving French Co. have joined other troupes for the theatrical season that opens soon. Lena Ralston went to Ohio to become a member of the Thomas Shearer Co., and Harry Keenan will act in the Robert Mantell Co., opening in a Connecticut city.

Mrs. Fred L. Millett gave her Sunday school class of little ones an outing, last week. Seventeen of them took a hay-rack ride to the home of Mrs. Millett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Colby. They made ice cream and had a splendid time generally.

In walking along Skillings avenue we were struck by the beauty of the flower garden at Alonzo F. Barrows'. Petunias, sweet peas and nasturtiums are the most conspicuous of the flowers, but there is a good lot of bedding plants and a few others. The arrangement of the garden adds much to its attractiveness.

Rogers C. Sumner of Portland is in town to see his little boy who is dangerously ill. Mr. Sumner informs us that the child runs the horse track summer Morrill, and has won one race at Right, this season, taking it in straight heats. He gave the horse a record of 2.27 1/2 in doing it, but there's lots more speed in the animal.

Saturday's scores by South Paris Gun Club are given below. The best column being scores out of a possible twenty clay pigeons at unknown angles, and the second out of five at unknown angles, walk-up:

William E. Cushman died at his home on Pleasant street, Sunday morning. He was 75 years old and had been in feeble health for a long time. This was a public spirited citizen, and liberal with his means, especially to the Methodist church of which he was a faithful member. The churches of that denomination here and at Norway have especially been benefited by his benefactions. The funeral was private, owing to illness in the family. Rev. Insley A. Bean officiated. Interment was in Pine Grove cemetery. He will be missed in this town, as one of those people who took an interest in the welfare of all their fellowmen.

Real Warm Weather Rest and Comfort. There is a powder to be shaken into the shoes called Allen's Foot-Powder, invented by Allen S. Olmstead, Le Roy, N. Y., which druggists and shoe dealers say is the best thing they have ever sold to cure swollen, burning, sore and tender feet. Some dealers claim that it makes tight or new shoes feel easy. It certainly will cure corns and bunions and relieve instantly sweating, hot or smarting feet. It costs only a quarter, and the inventor will send a sample free to any address.

THE GREAT K&A TRAIN ROBBERY.

PAUL LEICESTER FORD AUTHOR OF "HONORABLE PETER STURGEON" ETC. (Copyright, 1898, by J. B. Lippincott Company.)

"Can I, lyddy?" said the fellow, leering in an attempt to look amiable. "What I had the chance to try."

The guard interrupted by telling her it wasn't permitted to speak to the convicts while out of bounds, and so we had to ride on. All Miss Cullen was able to do was to throw him a little bunch of flowers she had gathered in the mountains. It was literally casting pearls before swine, for the fellow did not seem particularly pleased, and when, late that night, I walked down there with a lantern I found the flowers lying in the ditch. The experience seemed to sadden and distress Miss Cullen very much for the rest of the afternoon, and I kicked myself for having called her attention to the brute and could have knocked him down for the way he had looked at her. It is curious that I felt thankful at the time that Drute was not holding up a train Miss Cullen was on. It is always the unexpected that happens. If I could have looked into the future, what a strange variation on this thought I should have seen!

The three days went all too quickly, thanks to Miss Cullen, and by the end of that time I began to understand what love really meant to a chap and how men could come to kill each other for it. For a fairly sensible, hard headed fellow it was pretty quick work, I acknowledge, but let any man have seven years of western life without seeing a woman worth speaking of, and then meet Miss Cullen, and if he didn't do as I did I wouldn't trust him on the rail-board of a locomotive, for I should put him down as defective both in eyesight and in intellect.

CHAPTER II. THE HOLDING UP OF OVERLAND NO. 3. On the third day a dispatch came from Frederic Cullen telling his father he would join us at Lamy on No. 3 that evening. I at once ordered 97 and 218 on to the connecting train, and in an hour we were back on the main line.

While waiting for the 'overland' to arrive, Mr. Cullen asked me to do something which, as it later proved to have considerable bearing on the events of that night, is worth mentioning, trivial as it seems. When I had first joined the party, I had given orders for 97 to be kicked in between the main string and their special, so as not to deprive the occupants of 218 of the view from their observation saloon and balcony platform. Mr. Cullen came to me now and asked me to reverse the arrangement and make my car the tail end. I was giving orders for the splitting and kicking in when No. 3 arrived, and this did not see the greeting of Frederic Cullen and his family. When I joined them, his father told me that the high altitude had knocked his son up, so that he had had to be helped from the ordinary sleeper to the special and had gone to bed immediately. Out west we have to know something of medicine, and my car had its chest of drugs. So I took some tablets and went into his stateroom.

Frederic was like his brother in appearance, though not in manner, having a quick, alert way. He was breathing with such difficulty that I was almost tempted to give him nitroglycerin, instead of strychnine, but he said he would be all right as soon as he became accustomed to the rarefied air, quite pooh-poohing my suggestion that he take No. 2 back to Trinidad. And while I was still urging the fact, started leaving him the vials of digitalis and strychnine, therefore, I went back and dined alone in my own car, indulging at the end in a cigar the smoke of which would keep turning into pictures of Miss Cullen. I have thought about those pictures since then and have concluded that when cigar smoke behaves like that a man might as well read his destiny in it, for it can mean only one thing.

After enjoying the combination I went to No. 218 to have a look at the son and found that the heart tonic had benefited him considerably. On leaving him I went to the dining room, where the rest of the party were still at dinner, to ask that the invalid have a strong cup of coffee, and after delivering my request Mr. Cullen asked me to join them in a cigar. This I did gladly, for a cigar and Miss Cullen's society were even pleasant than a cigar and Miss Cullen's pictures, because the pictures never quite did her justice, and, besides, didn't talk.

Our smoke finished, we went back to the saloon, where the gentlemen sat down to poker, where Lord Ralles had just learned and liked. They did not want to take a hand, for which I was grateful, as the salary of a railroad superintendent would hardly stand the game they probably played. And I had my compensation when Miss Cullen also was not asked to watch the clock. She said she was going to watch the moonlight on the mountains from the platform and opened the door to go out, finding for the first time that No. 97 was the "under." In her disappointment she protested against this and wanted to know the why and wherefore.

"We shall have far less motion, Madge," Mr. Cullen explained. "And then we shan't have the rear end man in our car at night."

"But I don't mind the motion," urged Miss Cullen, "and the flagman is there only after we are all in our rooms. Please leave us the view."

"I prefer the present arrangement, Madge," said Mr. Cullen in a very positive voice.

I was so sorry for Miss Cullen's disappointment that, on impulse, I said, "The platform of 97 is entirely at your service, Miss Cullen." The moment it was out I realized that I ought not to have said it and that I reserved a rebuke for supposing she would use my car.

Miss Cullen took it better than I hoped for and was declining the offer as kindly as my intention had been in making it when, much to my astonishment, her father said:

"By all means, Madge. That relieves us of the discomfort of being the last car, and yet lets you have the scenery and moonlight."

Miss Cullen looked at her father for a moment, as if not believing what she had heard. Lord Ralles scowled and opened his mouth to say something, but checked himself and only flung his discarded down as if he hated the cards.

"Thank you, papa," said Miss Cullen. "But I think I will watch you play."

"Now, Madge, don't be foolish," said Mr. Cullen irritably. "You might just as well have the pleasure, and you'll only disturb the game if you stay here."

Miss Cullen leaned over and whispered something, and her father answered her. Lord Ralles must have heard, for he muttered something which made Miss Cullen color up, but much good it did him, for she turned to me and said, "Since my father doesn't disapprove, I will gladly accept your hospitality, Mr. Gordon." And, after a glance at Lord Ralles that had a challenging "I'll do as I please" in it, she went to get her hat and coat.

The whole incident had not taken ten seconds, yet it puzzled me beyond measure, even while my heart beat with an unreasonable hope, for my better sense told me that it simply meant that Lord Ralles disapproved, and Miss Cullen, like any girl of spirit, was giving him notice that he was not yet privileged to control her actions. Whatever the scene meant, his lordship did not like it, for he swore at his luck the moment Miss Cullen had left the room.

When Miss Cullen returned, we went back to the rear platform of 97. I let down the traps, closed the gates, got a camp stool for her to sit on, with a cushion to lean back on and a foot stool, and fixed her as comfortably as I could, even getting a traveling rug to cover her lap, for the platform air was chilly. Then I hesitated a moment, for I had the feeling that she had not thoroughly approved of the thing and therefore she might not like to have me stay. Yet she was so charming in the moonlight, and the little balcony platform made was such a tempting spot to linger on, while she was there, that it wasn't easy to go. Finally I asked:

"You are quite comfortable, Miss Cullen?"

"Singularly so," she laughed. "Then perhaps you would like to be left to enjoy the moonlight and your meditations by yourself?" I questioned. I knew I ought to have said more, but I simply couldn't when she looked so enticing.

"Do you want to go?" she asked. "No," I ejaculated, so forcibly that she gave a little startled jump in her chair. "That is—I mean—I startled, embarrassed by my own vehemence, I rather thought you might not want me to stay."

"What made you think that?" she demanded. I am not a good hand at inventing explanations. After a moment's seeking for some reason I plumped out, "Because I feared you might not think it proper to use my car, and I suppose it's my presence that made you think it."

"She took my stupid fumble very nicely, laughing merrily while saying, 'If you like mountains and moonlight, Mr. Gordon, and don't mind the lack of a chaperon, get a stool for yourself too.' What was more, she offered me half of the lap robe when I was seated beside her."

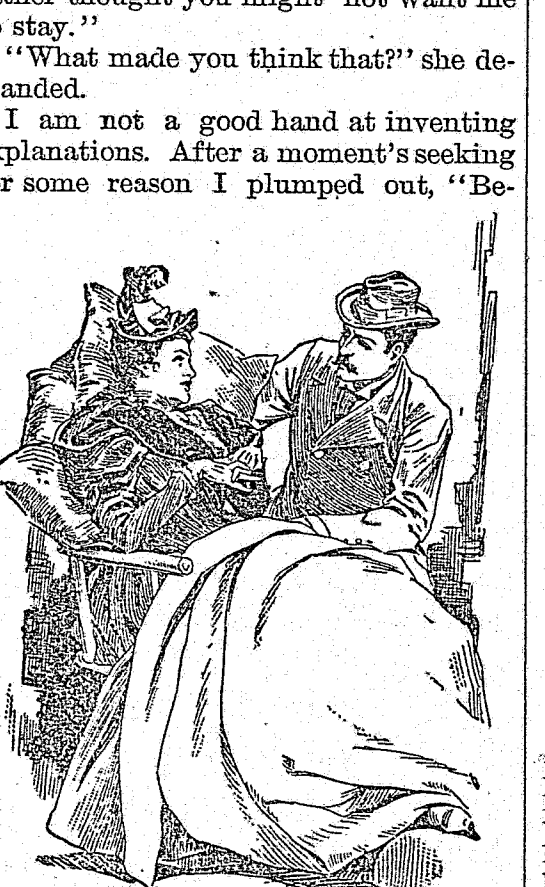

I think she was pleased by my offer to go away, for she talked very pleasantly and far more intimately than she had ever done before, telling me facts about her family, her Chicago life, her travels and even her thoughts. From this I learned that her elder brother was an Oxford graduate, and that Lord Ralles and his brother were classmates, who were visiting him for the first time since he had graduated. She asked me some questions about my work, which led me to tell her pretty much everything about myself that I thought could be of the least interest, and it was a very pleasant surprise to me to find that she knew one of the old team and had even heard of me from him.

"Why," she exclaimed, "how absurd of me not to have thought of it before! But, you see, Mr. Colston always speaks of you by your first name. You ought to hear how he praises you."

"Trust Harry to praise any one," I said. "There were some pretty low fellows on the old team—men who could not keep their word or their tempers and would slug every chance they got—but Harry used to insist there wasn't a bad egg among the lot."

"Don't you find it very lonely to live out here, away from all your old friends?" she asked. "To be continued."

Don't sneeze because your neighbor does. If there are some people he dislikes it is no reason why you should be unfriendly toward them and say harsh things about them. The bridge that carries you safely over the raging stream is a good one, and you have no right to speak ill of it, no matter what others say about it.—(Richmond Bee.

What Do the Children Drink?
Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called Grain-O? It is delicious and nourishing and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee but costs about 1/4 as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

B-L TOBACCO
Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alternative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at Noyes Drug Store, Norway, and Shurtell's Pharmacy, South Paris.

Business Resumed.

How To Find Out.
Fill a bottle or common water glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail, mention OXFORD COUNTY ADVERTISER and send your full post-office address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

A Remarkable Cure of Chronic Diarrhoea.
In 1862, when I served my country as a private in Company A, 167th Pennsylvania Volunteers, I contracted chronic diarrhoea. It has given me a great deal of trouble ever since. I have tried a dozen different medicines and several prominent doctors without any permanent relief. Not long ago a friend sent me a sample bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after that I bought and took a 50 cent bottle; and now I can say that I am entirely cured. I cannot be thankful enough to you for this great Remedy, and commend it to all suffering veterans. If in doubt write me. Yours gratefully, HENRY STEINBERGER, Allentown, Pa. Sold by Noyes Drug Store.

Peacefully Settled.
Fish and Game Commissioner Charles E. Oak arrived at Rangeley, Tuesday night, Aug. 3, and Wednesday morning, Sheriff George M. Estey accompanied him to the Rangeley Camps, Loon Lake, and arrested James Mathieson, president of the Rangeley Lakes Guides' Association, on the charge of guiding without a certificate from the commissioners of inland fisheries and game giving him a right to do so. Mathieson claims that he was hired simply as cook.
At the Municipal Court Room at Farmington, a more fiercely fought legal battle is seldom seen in any court room in Maine than that which has been waged all the afternoon over the question of whether the young president of the Rangeley Lakes Guides' Association had been violating the laws of the State in guiding visiting sportsmen in the Rangeley Lakes region. Judge Chandler, regretfully announced his decision finding probable cause of guilt and holding Mathieson to await the action of the grand jury at the coming September criminal term of the supreme court, to be held by Judge Savage. Bonds were furnished.

Then chairman Carleton of the board of commissioners arose and said, "Now, even after all that has occurred, if James Mathieson will stand in the presence of this august court and assemblage and say that he will obey and respect the law, I for one will be willing to sign and give him a certificate."
"May it please your honor," replied Mathieson, "I feel an oath of allegiance in the high court only a few weeks ago in becoming a citizen to obey and respect all the laws of Maine. I meant it when I swore it, and I mean now to obey and respect those laws. The only controversy that I have had with those commissioners was over the point of whether I should be compelled to report to them the amount of my wages and earnings as a guide at the end of the season. I did not believe that they had a right to require such a statement from me. Remember, Your Honor, that none of my testimony has been given before the court yet. I am perfectly willing to obey the law."
"That's probably satisfactory," said the commissioner.
Later in the evening Mathieson paid the commissioners at their hotel the dollar fee necessary to the granting of the license and it is understood that one will issue to him immediately.

body. Saw many objects of interest and instruction while there, as the place has become a renowned summer resort for people of almost every nationality.

I visited the Maine State Building, which was moved from Chicago, and have not the language to describe all the beautiful works of art, save the magnificent paintings, collection of minerals and ferns, also public library. The building itself is a curiosity which one must behold to form any idea of its wonders.

I also listened to the music furnished by the orchestra at the Spring Hotel.

seemed to me very fine but not being an educated musician I am unable to give a just description of the evening's concert by this rare choir of musicians. If one is sick or sad, Poland Springs is a fine place to go.

One will be entertained right royally there but it needs money for a season and plenty of it.

BRYANT'S POND.

Boating by moonlight is in order, this week.

Bertha Cushman went to Portland on Sunday.

Charley Dunham and Geo. Jones went to Portland on the Sunday excursion.

Mr. Freeman is building a roomy boat house on his camp grounds at the head of the pond.

Ethel Seavey of Southbridge, Mass., has been here on a week's vacation. She is a niece of Geo. Jones.

Mrs. J. H. Jones, and son of Boston have been visiting her brother-in-law, Geo. Jones, our popular druggist.

George Dow and family of New Haven, Conn., have returned to their home having enjoyed a month's vacation here.

Wm. Mason has returned to his home in Baltimore. Mrs. Mason and children will remain till the first of September.

There is a boom in stable rents in this village; it doesn't look healthy, for sometimes such booms react like boom-crashes.

Jennie Perham has returned to her old place as table girl at the hotel. Jennie is a great favorite with the summer boarders.

Gertrude Earle, who officiated as pastor of the Universalist church here, last summer, has been visiting old friends in the village.

The Glen Mt. House now has a full complement of summer boarders, and many more are expected to come during the present month.

Mr. Drummond of the Electro Chemical Works at Rumford Falls, came over on his wheel and spent Sunday with friends at the hotel.

Mrs. L. M. Sessions of Brooklyn, N. Y., is at the Glen Mountain House, visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Wood Mason of Baltimore, Md.

There was a dance at Grange Hall, Thursday evening of last week; a large attendance and a good time were the features. Bacon's orchestra furnished the music.

Messrs. A. V. Young and S. D. Glass of Chicago, Ill., have been enjoying the attractions of Bryant's Pond for a few days, on their way home from the Rangeley Lakes.

W. B. Brooks of Boston, with his wife and daughter, came down from Bethel for a day's fishing on our pond.

A good string of black bass proved their proficiency as anglers.

E. P. Collier and family from Cohasset, Mass., have been spending a couple of weeks at Camp Christopher on the shore of our pond. Mr. Collier is a commission wool merchant in Boston.

Frank Allen and son from Worcester, Mass., are guests at Deloraine Cole's.

Mr. Allen is a civil engineer and railroad contractor on the coast, and is doing important work at Calais and in other places in this State.

Annie P. Carey and Miss M. J. Curran from Boston, are at the hotel on a two weeks' vacation. They brought their "bikes", with them, and what with wheeling, boating and fishing, they are bound to have a good time.

The Universalist society of this village are determined to have a new church organ, and in the near future. In aid of this purpose a fair was held at the town hall, on Wednesday and Thursday of last week, and quite a snug sum was realized from the sale of useful and beautiful articles, contributed by the members and friends of the society.

Landlord Tobin of the Glen Mountain House is building a new stable for his increasing livery business. "Genial John" is bound to succeed, and fears no honest opponent.

For "ways that are dark, and for tricks that are vain," he has a wholesome contempt. Mr. Tobin has the hearty good will and substantial sympathy of the great majority of the people of this town and of his visiting friends, and he is an ardent exponent of the maxim, "Live and let live."

A musical and literary entertainment was given at the Universalist church, last week, in aid of the church organ fund, and over fifteen dollars were raised from the sale of tickets.

The Collier family is visiting here, and a large share of the volunteer talent. Mr. Collier as an elocutionist gave three or four recitations in a style that would have done credit to a professional. Bessie Bell Collier, a young miss of 13 years of age, rendered some very beautiful and artistic selections upon the violin; her singing was also phenomenal, as she has a sweet soprano voice that shows mature cultivation. The pieces she assumed were of a high order and rendered with exquisite taste and ability.

Bessie is destined for a professional career in music, and is a pupil of great promise. Mr. Lathrop of Cohasset, as a bass soloist, rendered two or three numbers that gave great satisfaction to an appreciative and critical audience. Mrs. Waterhouse, of Portland, presided at the piano as accompanist, and without rehearsal or practice, performed her part with rare grace and skill.

Grace Mountfort is at home for a few weeks from Boston

Next Tuesday evening, the Bethel chorus will go to Bryant's and give a concert for the benefit of the Universalist society in that place.
Col. C. S. Edwards and comrades, Hutchinson, Kilgore and Little, have gone to Portland, Wednesday, to attend the Fifth Maine regimental reunion.

Saturday afternoon, the Bethels and West Bethels played base ball. The Wests won by a score of 22 to 11. Our pitcher, Will Wright, was knocked out of the game by a ball in the eye.

Rev. and Mrs. Israel Jordan are visited by her parents, Charles B. Sands and wife of Saco, and her cousin, Mrs. Mace of Charlestown, Mass. Last week, Mr. Jordan was visited by his classmate, Rev. W. W. Ramey of Hartford, Conn.

Thursday of next week, Prof. Chapman will wield the baton at the finest choral concert ever in Bethel. The Norway and South Paris branch chorus will unite with the Bethel chorus on that occasion. The soloists will be Mrs. L. Duncan Barnes of Rockland, probably the finest soprano in Maine; Herma L. Horne of Norway, baritone, and Bennett C. Snyder of this town, tenor.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Wright are at home for the summer. They spent the winter in Acrostock county, holding musical conventions, and the spring and early summer in Hancock and Washington counties. They have had a pleasant and successful season. What fair weather they encountered in the last three months was especially delightful, as they have been in coast towns during that time.

We learn from Frank E. Hanson, the recently elected Principal of Gould Academy, that he has engaged for first assistant at that institution, Ernest H. Pratt of Pishon's Ferry, Maine. Mr. Pratt is a graduate of Colby University and a teacher of several years' successful experience. For the past two years he has been Principal of the Springfield Normal School, to which position he was unanimously reelected by the trustees for the coming year. He has tendered his resignation at Springfield to accept the position of Associate Principal at Gould Academy. The other assistants have not yet been selected; but with two so able and experienced teachers as Mr. Hanson and Mr. Pratt the success of Gould Academy for the coming year seems assured beyond the possibility of a doubt.

WILSON'S HILLS.

Peddlers are very plentiful they always are after having been over.

Don't forget the meeting at town hall on Monday evening next at 7.30 o'clock for definite arrangements regarding our Centennial celebration.

We learn that a grand ball will be given at the time of the celebration of the 100th anniversary of our incorporation, particulars to be announced later.

Those people who have been so sure that no electric or other R. R. would be built to this town must soon begin to "hedge" according to present indications.

The Waterford Creamery Co. is doing an immense business, far in excess of previous years. Nine tons of butter were made and shipped from this factory in the month of June. The business at Bethel factory is increasing very satisfactorily to the management, and Mr. Hamlin congratulates himself on having two very excellent butter makers at these two factories, and we shall certainly expect no indication of a retrograde movement by these gentlemen when the awards of the N. E. Fair are made.

HARBOR.

E. Hutchins is shingling his barn.

Chas. Waterhouse has been helping Edwin Walker finish hay.

Byron McKenney is employed as gate-keeper at the Chautauqua grounds.

W. H. Martin, who lives in Greenwood Mud ponds, brings a nice lot of pond lilies. We have distributed lilies to our friends since. Mr. Martin tells us that the deer are dying in the first mud pond probably owing to the shallow water and the hot weather. This year's crop of lilies was never so good.

Perry W. Judkins, who has California for nearly nine years, is from Alaska, the 7th, by way of St. Paul's Island and the Yukon river. He is a man in the party, and they have a two-masted schooner of 250 tons out with two 80 horse power gas engines. They took provisions for years.

A Double Wedding

On the morning of Aug. 17, a wedding occurred beneath the roof of Dea. N. W. Millett. The contracting parties were: Robert N. Millett and Katherine Robbs. William E. Lombard and L. Millett. The ceremony was performed by J. A. Harding to the music of Max March from "Lohengrin." The rooms appeared a veritable land. The bridal parties stood under an evergreen canopy, from which suspended a white slipper filled with sweet peas. The brides were lovely in white and the guests in congratulations, were them by funerals.

Ice cream and cake were served by Mrs. Millett and Mrs. Lombard, who are teachers of rare ability and are loved by a wide circle of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Millett are natives of Colby. Mrs. Millett is the daughter of the high school at Rockport. Mr. Lombard was graduated at Theological School and is pastor of the Baptist church at Brewer.

Both couple left in carriages which were strangely decorated with flowers and silppers and bore the legend, "We are married."

After the wedding was falling as the shower of rice was falling the bride and groom drove to the wishes of Norway people with them.

The gifts were beautiful and merous to mention. An outfit for the bride and groom was given by the bride's family.
